The Northville Township Police Department is pleased to announce the newest graduate of the Eastern Michigan University Police Staff and Command School. The Northville Township Police Department continues to maintain a tradition of academic and leadership excellence.

Sergeant Dan Jones began his career with the Northville Township Police Department in June 2007. While serving with the Northville Township Police Department, Dan has been assigned to the Wayne County Special Operations Team, Michigan State Police Western Wayne Narcotics Team, and the Drug Enforcement Administration. During his tenure as a patrol officer and detective, Dan has been responsible for training officers within his department in a wide range of disciplines. Starting in 2008, Dan has served as an instructor at the Wayne County Regional Police Academy. In April, 2017, Dan was promoted to the rank of Sergeant. Dan is currently a shift supervisor assigned to the patrol division.

Dan earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in criminal justice from Eastern Michigan University. He went on to attend the Wayne County Regional Police Academy and graduated in 2007.

The Eastern Michigan University Staff and Command school is an intensive program consisting of 350 hours of classroom instruction over 10 months geared towards police management. EMU's School of Staff and Command has a reputation for excellence and is supported by quality instructors and law enforcement management professionals.
